

Age Concern Epsom and Ewell's 75th

Surrey Brass Friday 8th April entertained over 100 in the magnificent main hall of Epsom College in aid of local 75 years old this year charity Age Concern Epsom and Ewell. The charity's mission statement is: "Empowering older people in Epsom & Ewell to live the most fulfilling lives they can." The charity has an army of volunteers who befriend their clients with regular visits, help with DIY, drives to medical appointments, support for a foot clinic and a free hearing aid clinic, advice and information and other services. With demands on its services ever rising this Epsom and Ewell based charity can be proud of its year on year growth with income rising from £125,000 in 2017 to £258,000 year end March 2021. However, the Charity's Chief Officer Dorah May explains that the challenges of the Co-Vid pandemic are placing a strain on finances with reserves being used up. "Public support is needed more than ever to keep current services going."

As their 75th year continues Age Concern Epsom and Ewell will combine its celebration with the Platinum Jubilee and recycle old hats that will be part of their Jubilee themed stall appearing in the Epsom Market Square on Thursdays throughout the month of May. Marie Thackwell, the charity's fundraising and marketing coordinator, said "I'm really looking forward to establishing some fun events and we already have a few great things lined up for the year ahead – after all it's Age Concern Epsom and Ewell's 75th anniversary – now that's something worth celebrating."

The Charity's monthly Sunday teas at Stoneleigh Methodist Church continue...
